Pingendo is a web design application for Windows and Mac OS X that allows you to edit and design websites quickly and efficiently. You can easily design your website using the graphic editor and edit the script code in parallel. Since your page will be available on smartphones and tablets, you can preview your page as if it was open on your desktop or laptop computer. The components library allows you to add headers, footers, components, sidebars, lists, tables, or navigation panels. The section editor enables you to add rows, columns or margins to a section. Pingendo offers a great number of design tools such as CSS filters, shadows, gradients and several effects. You can add or remove items from an object editor and you can also change CSS properties. Extensible using Bootstrap Pingendo is compatible with the Bootstrap framework. Thus, you can easily add Bootstrap to your website. The script console is usable both on Windows or Mac. You can create CSS style guides or modify CSS parameters. You may generate PSD, PNG, JPEG, GIF, SVG or PDF files and export them to an Internet browser. Moreover, you can create a new Bootstrap project or create a version of the website that will be compatible with the latest browsers, as it has been created for web pages that were downloaded a few years ago. The graphic editor has its own properties editor. You may customize the text, dimensions, fonts, colors, typefaces, or even download fonts. Moreover, you can import a variety of fonts in order to use them in your website.

With a modern interface and high accessibility, Pingendo is suitable for a large array of users, from Web designers to less experienced ones. Graphic and scripting in the same application Pingendo offers support for two major methods of generating a webpage, namely a graphic editor and a scripting console. The program is specialized in HTML, CSS and LESS programming language, allowing you to work with its powerful designing tools in parallel. The console can easily be displayed or hidden, to make room for the graphic work-space. The side menus include various elements that you can add to the design as simple as drag and drop. Thus, you may add sections, components or easily edit individual objects. The sections library includes headers, contents, footers, forms, while the components contains text boxes, media blocks, navigation panels, lists, tables, progress bars, buttons, forms or layout options. Object editor As a graphic designer application Pingendo offers you several editing tools, such as text options, alternative views or page properties. Since a webpage should be available and optimized for all the devices that can open it, you can preview your page as if on a smartphone screen, on a tablet, laptop or desktop. You may add SEO options, keywords or a favicon property to the website, change themes, colors or text size. The item editor allows you to set specific options for each element on your page. Prototype application with Bootstrap Pingendo can easily work with the Bootstrap framework in order to create the websites you wish, in a short time. The script editing console allows you to modify the desired parameters, either in the HTML or the LESS/CSS tab.

Moreover, you may save the project and export the webpage, then open it with the Internet browser. Pingendo is a simple to
