Sending bulk messages to numerous email accounts, contacts, groups and websites is a tedious task. Don't you wish you had a specialized, easy to use app that does the job? EZ Mail Merge does. It is a simple and easy to use tool for creating email messages. A recipient is selected, a text field is added for a recipient or a pre-written message is selected. The text is then pasted, with the resulting text being inserted into the recipients' email address. You can include headers, footers, and attachments. With this fast and easy tool you can: Create and send email messages without any coding knowledge Use multiple recipients at once Drag and drop recipients into the text field Add emails to the recipients list Save recipients to a CSV file Add files as attachments Attach multiple files to an email Bulk emailing provides better email marketing strategies than using tools that require knowledge of coding. In addition, no coding skills are needed to create email messages; the best recipients are selected, the messages are compiled into a single document and then sent to the recipients via email. Plus, it's fast, easy and free to use. You can spend your time managing other aspects of your business rather than spending the time of your team and network administrators to send emails. This tool is powerful and versatile but it should be used only by the experts as there is no help file available. This program can be slow in performance and it may take some time to produce a complete email message.
