Dialkylarenes, for example, dipentyl arenes, may be employed in a wide variety of synthetic organic reactions. These reactions include the alkylation of substituted aromatic compounds to produce substituted anilines. C. W. Eliot et al. describe in Chemical Abstracts, Vol. 70, Part 11, 67085m, a dialkylarene regeneration process which employs monolithic type catalysts. In U.S. Pat. No. 2,943,021, to Jenkins, there is described a substantially similar process in which a monolithic type catalyst is used in conjunction with a riser reaction vessel. The teachings of Jenkins may be used with the present invention. However, the 6a5afdab4c
