Canon EOS M3 I've been waiting for this one. The Canon

EOS M3 is a small, portable, all-weather, interchangeable lens camera for stills and video. I'd say there's a lot to like about this little thing, including Canon's great customisable menu system, speedy performance, large pixels, wide ISO range and sturdy build quality. The EOS M3 is available in silver and black. The EOS M3 is extremely easy to use for first-time shooters. The screen has a 0.74m-diagonal 4.2-inch touchscreen, making it very easy to navigate menus. It even has a dedicated mode dial, which looks great and is a real hand-on-the-wheel moment. The standard lens is the Canon EF-M 18-150mm f/3.5-6.3 IS STM lens. This lens has been designed for the EOS M3, but it has the same autofocus and image stabilization capabilities as other Canon EF lenses. I am not sure, but I think there is a new generation of lenses coming too. If you check the specs, they are 7 and 28 mm, too. 1d6a3396d6
