file.^[@R26]^ A limitation of our study was that the treatment outcomes of our patients were not compared with a control group of patients not treated with a PICC line. However, it is likely that a definitive answer regarding the safety and efficacy of a PICC line in patients with an ITP who require PLT transfusions would be difficult to be made because of ethical and practical reasons. Another limitation of our study is that the PICC lines were not crossed, so it was not possible to check for early occlusion of the PICC lines or catheter-related infection. Moreover, the retrospective nature of our study and its small size make it difficult to draw definitive conclusions. In summary, our results suggest that a PICC line is associated with a low risk of venous thromboembolism and other potentially serious vascular complications. Most importantly, it is possible to maintain PLTs for a longer time period when using a PICC line. Consequently, a PICC line can be an easy-to-use and valuable method of maintaining PLT levels in patients with a high demand for PLTs.

Winnipeg police say a west-end business owner has been charged following the seizure of child porn online. On Thursday police searched the office of Magda Wroblewski and seized images and movies of children under the age of 12 being raped, stripped, beaten or strangled. The victims in the images had their faces blurred. Wroblewski is facing several child pornography charges. The discovery of the images came after an investigation into reports made to the University of Manitoba's cyber security office in March 2016 that child porn was being uploaded to the university network, according to police. Wroblewski owns The Wink, a coffee shop at 1065 Portage Avenue, and was the director of operations
